Thousands of television shows, hundreds of freelance gigs, dozens of years of experience working with everyone from Tito Puente to Harvard University's Facing History Project, more than 20 studios that started out as ideas and now crank out and distribute essential messages...

Experienced.

A million years of only doing tv. Not too old to rock. Yet.

Visionary.

Always big picture, always focused on why we're doing the work.

Practical.

I know how to get the mechanisms in place to get the messages out.

I create environments where independent and student videographers can realize their work--building facilities and opportunity, bricks and mortar out of ideas, acquiring and integrating the tools to convert people and places and ideologies into pixels, producing hyperlocal media that positively impacts communities. Let's talk about how I can help you with your work. Write. Phone.
